The pastor's saddle bag is a small but not insignificant way to say thank you for your ministry as well as encourage thoughtful study. Serious doctrinal study has been lacking among many pastors in the cowboy church movement, which has been a problem in traditional churches as well. If we want the world to take us seriously, we must approach the word of God with a passion to grow in knowledge and maturity of the faith (Mark 12:30; Colossians 3:2-3; 2 Peter 3:17-18). We cannot divide and handle accurately that which we have not studied. We cannot pour out what has not first been poured in.

What a great opportunity we have as a legitimate mission and ministry movement to be a major player in connecting God's story to followers of Jesus and the lost in a powerful and authentic manner in the 21st century! We should rise to the occasion with great vigor and anticipation of what God will accomplish if we are committed to our callings and the tasks set before us.

Let us both challenge and encourage one another to strive for excellence as we serve Him in the power of Holy Spirit according to His word and His will. James "Mac" McLeod, Pastor, CTCC 903-249-2701
